

KEY GOVERNMENT SCHEMES focused on adolescent empowerment

Updated On: January 2022

PREFACE

This booklet has been developed by the UMANG program and it is a compilation of schemes of different government departments which focus on the welfare of adolescents and their families. The contents of this booklet, such as text, graphics, images, illustrations and other material are for information purposes only, to enable community and key stakeholders working on issues of adolescents by enhancing their knowledge about these schemes and providing a quick and an easy access to information, and do not purport to be legal document. This booklet can serve as a guiding document for frontline and field level workers of civil society organizations to guide children, adolescent boys and girls, their parents and women to get information about different schemes and policies and to understand the process to access them.

This booklet is only a compilation of “Government Schemes” and ICRW or organizations related to ICRW do not have any specific role in providing access to these schemes. This booklet does not seek to promote any particular scheme. Apart from the schemes mentioned in this document there can be several other government schemes which may not have been included here. The community and adolescent boys and girls will have to take their own initiative to avail of these schemes. The role of Umang program team is limited only to awareness generation and sharing of information on these schemes. The age, eligibility, monetary amount and other provisions mentioned in these schemes are subject to change from time to time depending on changes introduced by the government. ICRW or its partner organisations cannot be held responsible for any such changes.

While every effort has been made to avoid errors or omissions in the content translated in Hindi, if any mistake, error or discrepancy is noticed, it may be brought to our notice for immediate correction. It is notified that neither ICRW nor Umang team will be responsible for any loss or damage to anyone, of any kind, in any manner, therefrom. Readers are advised to verify the content from original Government Acts/Rules/Notifications etc. for getting additional information. Readers are advised to contact the concerned department as well for getting more information. In case of any difference between English and Hindi versions, English version will prevail.

This is a ready reckoner for Civil society organizations, frontline workers, program implementers and policy makers who may use it in the context of adolescent empowerment in their programmes and intervention areas.

- ICRW “Umang” Team

Government Schemes booklet

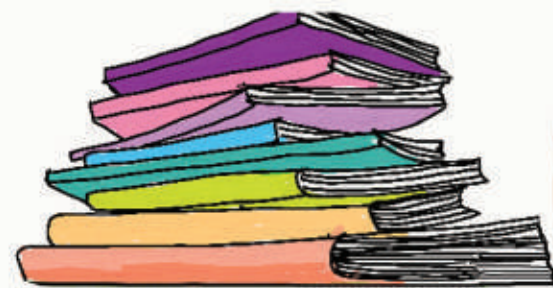

Background and Objectives

The government is implementing several schemes related to social security and empowerment of adolescent girls and boys. However these schemes have limited outreach owing to low awareness (specially in rural areas)

Therefore, these schemes have been collated and compiled in this booklet under the UMANG program so that they can reach their target beneficiaries. This booklet can be used as an Information Education Communication (IEC) material in order increase awareness and outreach of these schemes. Government departments and civil society organizations can strengthen the process of adolescent empowerment through the use of this booklet.

Methodology of mapping of schemes

The UMANG team established contact with concerned officials in the relevant departments at the block and district level. They identified the departmental schemes in consultation with respective panchayat, block and district officials and gathered detailed information on each scheme. Along with this, information available on the internet and the websites of relevant departments were accessed to update the scheme booklet. The information so collected was verified through the concerned departmental officials in order to update the booklet. The draft version of the booklet was vetted by Jharkhand State Social Audit Directorate and state level officials of the Jharkhand Labour Department. This booklet was finalized after this vetting process.

Demonstration Guidelines

For the booklet's proper community use, it is essential that those who have carefully read the booklet's demonstration guidelines ensure that the information contained within the booklet reaches people so that they get proper information.

While giving information about the schemes contained within the booklet, please take care of the following:

1. Read the clarification in the beginning and repeat it at the end.
2. Try to understand the needs of the people you are giving information to. Also try to understand the schemes being availed by them in the present.
3. Don't give information about which you are not sure. For example, "you will get money if you go to the head of the Panchayat", or "you can get your Aadhar card made in the regional office" etc.
4. Please keep in mind that the objective for giving information is to ensure that people understand their rights and eligibility for various schemes. This will enable them to benefit from and connect with different schemes. This will improve the conditions of families and ensure that children can pursue complete their studies.
5. Please also be aware that the objective of marriage related schemes is to empower young girls and to ensure that they are able to complete their education without any barriers. Please don't make statements like, "as soon as the girl turns 18 she will get money which will help her get married."

“Come let’s benefit from schemes, and realise our dreams.....”

Umang

The Project “Umang” is being implemented by the International Center for Research on Women (ICRW) along with SATHEE, Badlao Foundation & Project Concern International (PCI) in the districts of Godda and Jamtara of Jharkhand. Umang is a 5 years multilevel program which aims at accelerating the rate of decline of child marriage incidence in Jharkhand.
